Professional Designations

CFA Institute	Chartered Financial Analyst®	2015
---------------	------------------------------	------

The CFA® designation is an international professional certification offered by CFA Institute (formerly AIMR) to financial analysts who complete a series of three examinations. To become a CFA® charterholder, candidates must pass each of three six-hour exams, possess a bachelor’s degree from an accredited institution (or have equivalent education or work experience), have 48 months of qualified, professional work experience and become a member of CFA Institute. CFA® charterholders are also obligated to adhere to a strict code of ethics and standards governing their professional conduct. The CFA® is a qualification for finance and investment professionals, particularly in the field of investment management and financial analysis of stocks, bonds and their derivative assets. The program focuses on portfolio management and financial analysis and provides a general knowledge of other areas of finance.

CFP Board of Standards	CERTIFIED FINANCIAL PLANNER®	2023

The CFP® designation is a professional certification conferred by the Certified Financial Planner Board of Standards, Inc. (“CFP Board”). To receive authorization to use the designation, the candidate must meet education, examination, experience, and ethics requirements established by the CFP Board. Certificate holders are required to have a bachelor’s degree or higher from an accredited U.S. college or university to complete course training in the following areas of planning:

- General Principles of Finance and Financial Planning
- Insurance Planning
- Employee Benefits Planning
- Investment and Securities Planning
- State and Federal Income Tax Planning
- Estate Tax, Gift Tax, and Transfer Tax Planning
- Asset Protection Planning
- Retirement Planning
- Estate Planning

CFP® candidates must pass a 10-hour certification exam designed to assess the ability of the candidate to apply their knowledge of the completed coursework. Students and practitioners are required to adhere to the CFP Board Code of Ethics and Professional Responsibility and to the Financial Planning Practice Standards. To maintain certification, license holders are also required to complete certain continuing education requirements on an ongoing basis.

Item 3: Disciplinary Information

Registered Investment Advisers (“RIA”) are required to disclose all material facts regarding any legal or disciplinary events that would be material to a client’s or prospective client’s evaluation of each supervised person providing investment advice.

There are no disciplinary actions to disclose for Martin.

Individual industry history can be reviewed online at: <https://adviserinfo.sec.gov/individual/summary/1006879>.

Item 4: Other Business Activities

In addition to the investment advisory services described in the disclosure brochure, Martin is a licensed insurance agent of Allegis Advisor Group (“AAG”). Therefore, a conflict of interest exists between K-L and the client; and the client is under no obligation to act upon the recommendations of K-L. If, however, the client elects to act upon any recommendations, the client is under no obligation to affect the insurance transactions through Allegis Advisor Group.

The fees paid to Kelman-Lazarov for advisory services are separate and distinct from the commissions earned by Martin. The receipt of additional sales-based compensation presents a conflict of interest and gives Martin an incentive to recommend insurance products based on the compensation received, rather than solely on the client investment needs. However, clients are under no obligation, contractually or otherwise, to purchase insurance products through an affiliated firm or any person associated with K-L.

Martin also serves as board or council member of several organizations, including the Facing History & Ourselves (Memphis Chapter) National Leadership Council, the Jewish Community Partners of Memphis, the Yom Hashoah Committee of the Memphis Jewish Federation, and the Executive Committee of the University of Memphis Alumni Association Board. He does not earn compensation for these positions.

Item 5: Additional Compensation

Martin has no other income or compensation to disclose.

Item 6: Supervision

The senior management and compliance department are responsible for ensuring K-L has put policies and procedures in effect to reasonably detect and deter prohibited activities. Item 4: Other Business Activities

In addition to the investment advisory services described in the disclosure brochure, Michael is a non-producing licensed administrative registered representative and Branch Principal of Mutual Securities, Inc. (“MSI”), a registered broker-dealer. In this capacity, he can advise and speak with clients about securities for sale and life, health, disability, and annuity products through various insurance companies and approves the transactions of registered representatives in his branch. However, he is prohibited from executing a broker-dealer based transaction or product contract for a commission. Regardless of Michael’s inability to execute the transaction or receive a commission directly, a conflict of interest exists between K-L and the client by his ability to make recommendations on behalf of a producing registered representative that can execute the recommended transaction. The client is under no obligation to act upon the recommendations of K-L. If, however, the client elects to act upon any recommendations, the client is under no obligation to affect the broker-dealer based securities or insurance transactions through Mutual Securities, Inc.

Michael does not earn compensation for the sale of any investment-related products or services and is not engaged in any other investment-related business or occupation other than the sale of securities and insurance products.

Intl. Foundation of Retirement Education	Certified Retirement Counselor (CRC®)	2007
--	---------------------------------------	------

The Certified Retirement Counselor® (CRC®) certification is granted by the International Foundation for Retirement Education (“InFRE”). To attain the certification, a candidate must complete the required educational examination and experience requirements set forth by InFRE. Candidates must pass a 4-hour examination that covers the domains of practice and knowledge designed to ensure all CRC® certificants possess the necessary knowledge and skills to competently fulfill their responsibilities as retirement counseling professionals. Certificants must also receive at least 15 hours annually of qualifying continuing education and agree to abide by the InFRE ethics requirements.

Item 3: Disciplinary Information

There are no disciplinary actions to disclose for Keith.

Individual industry history can be reviewed online at: <https://adviserinfo.sec.gov/individual/summary/4931657>.

Item 4: Other Business Activities

In addition to the investment advisory services described in the disclosure brochure, Keith is a producing registered representative of Mutual Securities, Inc. (“MSI”), a registered broker-dealer and he is also a licensed insurance agent of Crump Life Insurance Services, Inc. (“Crump”). In the capacity of registered representative, he offers securities for sale and is licensed to sell life, health, disability, and annuity products through various insurance companies. Therefore, a conflict of interest exists between K-L and the client; and the client is under no obligation to act upon the recommendations of K-L. If, however, the client elects to act upon any recommendations, the client is under no obligation to affect the broker-dealer based securities and/or insurance transactions through Mutual Securities, Inc. or Crump Life Insurance Services, Inc.

The fees paid to Kelman-Lazarov for advisory services are separate and distinct from the commissions earned by Keith. The receipt of additional sales-based compensation presents a conflict of interest and gives Keith an incentive to recommend investment or insurance products based on the compensation received, rather than solely on the client investment needs. However, clients are under no obligation, contractually or otherwise, to purchase insurance or securities products through an affiliated firm or any person associated with K-L.

Keith also serves as a Board Member of the DeNeuville Learning Center. He does not earn compensation for these positions.

Item 5: Additional Compensation

Keith has no other income or compensation to disclose.

Item 6: Supervision

The senior management and compliance department are responsible for ensuring K-L has put policies and procedures in effect to reasonably detect and deter prohibited activities. Each K-L advisor must acknowledge that they are aware of and agree to abide by all applicable government and industry regulations as well as the Code of Ethics.

Board Members, consisting of Keith F. Schmitt, as President, Andrew D. Buzan, as Treasurer, Patrick J. O'Hearn, as Secretary, and Founding Partners Ronald J. Lazarov and Martin S.
